Top 15 dog friendly hotels in San Diego

Becky Moore / 3 September

At the southernmost tip of California and on the Pacific coastline, it's all about the ocean and outdoor pursuits in San Diego. Its laid-back, outdoorsy vibe is apparent from its surf-loving, climate caring locals who protect and enjoy their natural surroundings. The surf's always up for humans and pooches with doggy lessons available for regular surfing and stand-up paddle boarding (SUP) tours that take you gliding under North Harbor Bridge and past other key sites of San Diego. San Diego is well set up for a break with your four-legged friend and is one of the most dog-friendly cities in America.

Spend the day on Fiesta Island – an off-leash dog-friendly park and beach within Mission Bay or stroll around one of the many local pooch permitting parks including famous Balboa Park with designated leash-free areas. There's even a dog bakery not too far from Balboa Park serving preservative and lactose-free doggy cakes. If you fancy some retail therapy then head to Westfield UTC which is a pet-friendly open-air shopping centre and enjoy dinner and harbor views with your faithful friend at Seaport Village at one of the dog-friendly restaurants. These are the top 15 dog-friendly hotels in San Diego...

Loews Coronado Bay Resort – an oceanfront resort where your dog can surf the waves with you

This upscale and highly regarded oceanfront resort is set on a 15-acre peninsula and is a resort destination on its own merit. Loews Coronado Bay Resort offers a choice of 4 restaurants, 3 bars and lounges, an outdoor pool, a well-appointed spa and a fitness centre. Your dogs will be equally well attended to at this pet friendly San Diego hotel, with doggy goodies available on arrival, and access to Coronado's very own dog beach, where they can try their hands (paws) at dog surfing! Treat your dog to a nice steak after a day at the beach, or relax with a cool beer at the bar while your best friend snoozes at your feet.

Born in England, with a few family roots from Bavaria, and a heart in Scandinavia I've always been a bit of a restless soul. My first true adventure began as a six month voyage around South East Asia as a fresh faced backpacker and ever since I've lived a semi nomadic existence, clocking up over 40 countries on trips and living in Dublin, South East Asia and Australia. I'm a lover of US Road Trips, deserted beaches bathed in warm glow of a sunset, Cuban mojitos, easy-on-the-eye travel destinations far away from the tourist crowds and all things Scandinavian - from cloudberry liquors to Scandi Noirs. When not wandering the world, you'll find me walking my rescue dog in leafy South West London, strolling around the Brighton Laines on random day trips, hunting for photogenic landscapes or daydreaming about returning to my all time favourite places in the world; Havana, Copenhagen, Italy, Thailand and the frozen landscapes of a wintry Iceland. Follow Becky on Twitter and Google+.
